

FEI to Present at Continuity Insights Conference
Addressing the human impact of cyber terrorism

April 19, 2017, Milwaukee, Wis. — FEI Behavioral Health, a social enterprise with a 35-year history and a leader in workforce resilience from crisis management and workplace violence prevention to EAP and organizational development, will present a session at the upcoming Continuity Insights 2017 Management Conference, running April 24-26, 2017, in Denver, Colorado.

FEI Senior Director Terri Howard will be presenting an informative session, “Preparing for the Worst: Cyber Terrorism and the Human Impact” on April 26, 2017, at 1:00 p.m. MST. This session will discuss the long-lasting and traumatic impact of cyberattacks on employees, customers and businesses. Attendees will learn specific steps for protecting their workforce and the elements of an effective response plan.

The session will explore:

- Details on attackers and their motivations
- Real-life implications and risks to businesses
- Financial and emotional impact on victims
- Ways to assist victims in recovering
- Best practices in organizational planning and response

Howard is responsible for working with FEI corporate clients to ensure they are prepared for, can respond to and recover from a crisis incident. She also coordinates the people support and psychological first aid services for those impacted by crises, and she is responsible for developing drills and exercises aimed at testing current plans and procedures. Over the years, Howard has contributed to several international standards and guidelines on crisis management and workplace violence prevention, including ASIS, a global community of more than 38,000 security practitioners, and the FBI.
